Conclusion Reached by the Jury on the First Ballot.

TRIAL SET FOR JULY 26.

The Prisoner Smiled and Appeared Overjoyed at the Finding of the Jury.

pecial to The Post-Dispatch.
UNION, Mo., May 11.—Arthur Duestro is a legally sane man, and upon July 26 he st go to trial for the murder of his wife. The jury in the insanity inquiry determined the first proposition shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, and a half hour later Judge Hirzel and his attorneys had the date set for the final struggle in the fight, which is made to save the young millionaire's neck

ON THE FIRST BALLOT. The jury reached its decision on the first ballot. The unanimity of opinion was sur-prising. Although they took the evidence in its entirety under consideration last night immediately after supper, they reported that no conclusion had been reached at 10 o'clock and they would retire for the night. It was thought that a sanity verdict was coming then, for Foreman Glaser asked that they be allowed to report the first thing in the morn-

It seems that they did no balloting at al last night. They merely talked the matter over until they saw that they were unanius for sanity. Wishing to be sure of their opinion they decided to sleep or it over night, and the first ballot in the morning settled the whole business, Judge Hirzel was sent for and a few minutes after Hirzel was sent for and a few minutes after this the foreman announced that the verdict was ready. A runner was sent out for Gov. Johnson, but Mr. Booth being present with all the atterneys for the State he was not waited for. Foreman Glaser announced the verdict and the jury was discharged. There was very little excitement owing to there being so few people in court.

Duestrow was apparently the happiest of men. He smiled triumphantly and shook his head like a school boy who had been vindicated in a quarrel with his teacher.

"Are you glad?" he was asked.

"Yes, I am," was his reply. "This nonsense is over now."

Gov. Johnson came in at that moment. Duestrow's eyes lighted up as he sew him, and you could see the rejoicing in every line of his face.

Duestrow's eyes lighted up as he saw him, and you could see the rejoicing in every line of his face.

"Have you got anything to say to me?" he demanded of him rather insolently.

"I will see you later," said the Governor, as he turned away.

Gov. Johnson ascribes his defeat to popular prejudice against his client. He was asked why he deserted the paranoia theory in his argument vesterday, he having not mentioned the word in his entire speech. He swayed his head back and forth in a manner so characteristic of him, and exclaimed: "Oh, paronoia was not the question. It was whether or not he was in

It was whether or not he was in This breaking to pieces of the paranola killed the defense. The jurors could not understand why this was done, and it had a detrimental effect. Gov. Johnson's argument otherwise did not have the effect that ment otherwise did not have the effect that was given by the spectators. It was a powerful plea, one far better than he made at the last hearing, one which thrilled even those who had opposed him most bitterly, but in the eyes of the jurors it was filled with distortion of the evidence and lost in great measure its power of persuasion.

Duestrow will be returned to St. Louis to-morrow. Gov. Johnson will have him watched, he says, for he has threatened to kill himself if not released altogether.

The child had endeavored to get out of the chair after her mother's departure, and the rope with which she had been tied in the chair in some way strangled it to death.

The woman was horrified whem she saw what had happened. Dr. Wiggins was sent for, but could do nothing, death having ensued before the mother's return.

Should his health compel his withdrawal from the Cabinet later, Mr. Dickinson doubtless might be asked to accept the office. DENVER, Colo., May 11.-Hon. Richard P. Bland, ex-Congressman from Missouri, who will open a Colorado lecture tour tonight, speaking on the "Fight of Twenty Years in Congress for the Free Coinage of Silver and the Fight Yet to Come," said in an interview to-day that in his opinion nothing can prevent a victory for the silver forces in the presidential election next

"I am a Democrat, and I believe the members of that party will be strong enough to down Cleveland, office-holders and all If the Democratic party does not put up a free silver man and come out squarely for free silver, it will disappear as a positical factor. I believe that the party that comes out on this question, so that there can be no misunderstanding, will succeed. I do not care what the party is, if the others sempt to equivocate. The other side has been given to concession. It has all law on its side, and has had for many it is it not about time that they should do little of the concession business?

"I he predictions of the gold men in regard to the repeal of the Sherman law had become true, I have no doubt but that silver would have received a blow that would have taken it years to have recovered from. But, as it happned, the predictions of the silver men became true. Times did not improve after the repeal of that law. As a matter of fact, they got worse. It was harder for a man to get a day's work after than before, and it is my opinion that times cannot get good enough between now and a year from this fall to make any difference. The gold men say that if times would only get good, then they could talk to the people. Perhaps the salvation of silver may come through two bad things—that is, the repeal of the Sherman law and the hard times.

"The gold men have lost the confidence of the people. They are trying hard to regain it, but they are in a hopeless endeavor. The people laugh when they begin to talk about international agreements, about American coinage, 'honest money and other bugbears that used to work. They do not scare any longer. The time is almost here when the people of this country are to say, 'Between gold monometallism and silver monometallism, we will take the latter."

"Do I believe the silver sentiment is growing as rapidly in the East as has been reported? Most assuredly I do. Among the money changers and the bankers there has been no "I am a Democrat, and I believe the mem

Mrs. Leppe was invited Saturday morning by Judge David Murphy in the Court of Correction to present her reply to the evidence submitted by Miss Madden last Saturday. Attorney John I. Martin, who represents Mrs. Leppe, did not see any other defense to make than that the eggs were fresh ones, which landed four times out of five upon Miss Madden's person, and Mrs. Leppe was accordingly the only witness he placed upon the stand. She was contrite, and acknowledged the egg-throwing, also in response to a query from Col. Martin, that the eggs were fresh, she said her provocation was that the boy was sick.

Judge Murphy ignored the original defense and fined her $25 and costs.

enclosure hurriedly. The storm passed over in a few minutes without doing any damage.

Up in North St. Louis the wind was more violent. It struck the tent of Wombwell's wild animal show, which decorates the vacant lot at Twelfth and Howard streets, and blew down the canvas and a portion of the seats. The storm struck the tent while Jules Herman was performing with the wrestling lion. When the tent and seats came down with a crash a cloud of dust blew in upon the audience, and there was almost a panic. Women and children screamed with fright, for fear the wrestling lion, or some other animal, might escape from his cage and mix with the crowd. Fortunately, everyone got out safely and none of the animal excaped.

There was also an exciting experience at this show Thursday night. A lion known as "Old Wallace." was on the programme for a boxing setto with his trainer Boccacio. Boccacio had been performing his number with Wallace for some time, always garbed in a suit of armour-covered buckskin. Thursday night he changed to a dress suit. The lion didn't recognize him, and when he appeared at the cage knocked him down, ripped his dress suit and fastened his claws in his arm. The lion was pulled off in time to save Boccacio's life.

Hanging over his back fence, with its arms, head and body extended downward, as though in the act of climbing over, was a skeleton. The feet and legs were dangling on the outside, and the fence caught the gruesome thing in the middle.

Schwaneck was badly frightened, but soon recovered his composure and returned and threw the thing in the alley. An hour later a negro employed by a neighbor whose property abuts on the alley between Olive and Pine streets found the skeleton in the alley and threw it on a pile of coke in the rear of Dr. Suillivan's office, at 2930 Olive street.

Then the police were notified. Officer Shannon of the Fifth District appeared on the scene and the bones were sent to the Morgue. Excitement in the neighborhood had not abated Saturday morning, and everybody was inquiring where the ghastly thing came from. Mr. Schwaneck would particularly like to know.

It is presumed the skeleton was the property of the eider Dr. Williams. He was recently sent to a private sanitarium for treatment, and it is supposed he was careless about where he put his medical paraphernalia. The younger Dr. Williams could not be found. It was claimed he was not at home, but was seen about the premises by neighbors.

Dr. Sullivan is a Christian scientist, and denies that he ever owned a skeleton. He objects to sharing the ownership of the thing with Dr. Williams, to whom he confidently believes it belonged. The Coroner will investigate.

Jim and Ed Murray Hanged for the Murder of Conductor Fitzwilliams.

One Was Executed at Clayton This Morning and the Other at Hermann.

The Murdered Man's Father and Two Brothers Witnessed the Execution of Jim Murray.

The execution of Jim Murray was conducted in an orderly manner. The legal process of taking away the murderer's life went through without a hitch and with an entire absence of unpleasant occurrences.

At 6:54 o'clock Murray walked out on the scaffold, the black cap was put on and the noose adjusted. At 6:55 the trap fell and the murderer dropped off into space. His neck was broken and death was instantaneous. The swinging corpse exhibited not the slightest nervous tremor. Eight minutes after the drop the pulse ceased beating. At 7:06 o'clock the heart fluttering stopped, the doctors pronounced life totally extinct and the body was cut down.

LAST PREPARATIONS.

At 6:56 o'clock Sheriff Garrett led the newspaper men, Deputy Sheriffs and several spectators onto the gallows. The place of execution was on the way between the jail and the court-house.

There is a board platform, 10x12 feet, built from wall to wall, and in the center of it is a trap about three feet square. The drop is from this into the yard below.

The crowd in the open area had no sight of the condemned man until his body swung into space from the ceiling above.

At 6:50 o'clock, the condemned man walked out on the scaffold, accompanied by Fr. McEriane. His face was a dull, ashy color. He wore an old pair of gray trousers and a polka-dot calico shirt, open at the neck. He was in his stockinged feet. Sheriff Garrett directed him where to stand on the trap, and he took his position unaided. Edgar Fitzwilliams father could have reached out his hand and touched him; but the murderer looked at no one. His eyes were cast down and his lips were moving in prayer. The customary permission to make a speech was not granted. When his feet touched the trap, Deputy Hencken drew the black cap over his face and Sheriff Garrett adjusted the noose and began tightening it.

one of the negroes said: "I've got the price, black cap over his face and Sheriff Garrett adjusted the noose and began tightening it.

"Let me know when you're ready, Mr. Garrett," came Murray's muffled voice from behind the cap. "Let me—" but the rope choked him off.

Sheriff Garrett put his hand on his shoulder. Deputy Gerhardt pulled the lever, the trap sprung open, and Murray dropped six and one-half feet. The body stopped with a jolt—an audible gasp—and it was all over. The hands clinched and relaxed, but not another nervous contraction was visible.

LEISURELY WAY OF LEGISLATORS.

Senate and House Rest Two Days in the Week.

BUT LITTLE PROGRESS MADE.

The Lobby Has Mapped Out Its Course and Is in No Particular Hurry.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 11.—There are not many members of the Legislature here to-day. Both the Senate and the House have gotten into a habit of adjourning over from Friday until Monday. There is no apparent reason why Saturday is not just as good a day for work as Friday, but you can't convince the average Senator or Representative that it is. The St. Louis races were an additional incentive to adjourn yesterday. And it is pleasanter the journey, to go fishing than to put in

As a matter of fact the procrastination left little to do to-day. The postponement of the special order on the Senate Labor Committee bill until Tuesday left abso-lutely nothing before it to act upon. The

The Conference Committee on the election bill is in the same state as when it was appointed. It has been meeting twice a day, adjourning and promising to do something. It has now adjourned with the Legislature until Monday, and if it makes a report before next Thursday it will be a surprise to everybody. It is not believed that the conferees are not making some sort of an effort to agree. But there are only six of them, and it ought not to take them a week to discover whether they can get together or whether they can get together or whether they can not. There are only a few points of difference between the two bills, and there is nothing to prevent a report letting the public know exactly what they are and how the members of the committee stand on them.

This is the situation with which the people of the State are confronted. There never was, in all probability, a Legislature about which the lobby was as loud in its boasts of ownership as the present one. And events go to show that the boasts are not idle talk.

Senator Peers announced before he left are not idle talk.

Senator Peers announced before he left for home yesterday that he had twenty-two Senators who would vote to substitute his bill for the bill of the Committee on Labor. It is not likely that this is true, but it is certain that there are a good many Senators who would like to have an excuse to vote for a general bill and send it to the House to be killed there.

General Solicitor Cochrane of the Missouri Pacific has returned to St. Louis and General Solicitor Blodgett of the Wabash left for Chicago yesterday. Mr. Cochrane, in his speech before the Labor Committee Friday, and in personal conversation, professed the most earnest desire not to have the people of the State and the railroads come in conflict. Mr. Cochrane has every opportunity to have his desire gratified. Phelps and Flanagan, with the occasional assistance of Sam Byrnes, are the only open lobbyists here, and they all represent the Missouri Pacific. The first evidence of the sincerity of Mr. Cochrane's professions would be their permanent absence from the Capitol corridors. You can hear this sentiment expressed every day by Democrats and Republicans alike, who are not under the control of the lobby. They say that whether Phelps may be able to control this Legislature or not, the boodling which has been going on is so well understood that there will be a hereafter, when which has been going on is so well understood that there will be a hereafter, when both political parties will have to take a stand, and that the developments of the extra session will result in the influences which have kept the lobby here reaping the whirlwind.

Mr. Selden P. Spencer, when asked to-day about the telegram he was reported to have received from Messra. Nathan Cole, Leishton, Furth and Holmes replied as follows: "I did receive a telegram from the gentlemen named, in which they found fault with me individually because a petition which they had sent with others to the House of Representatives had not been printed by the House of Representatives or referred to a conference committee then acting. "The facts of the matter are these. Our Tuesday, evening I received a telegram signed by many names, asking the House of Representatives to pass the election bill favored by the Safety Committee. I am honestly of the opinion that this bill supported by so many excellent men is extremely unwise and partisan in many of its provisions, and believing as I do I cannot support it and have repeatedly told these gentlemen so, yet they send the telegram to me. I presented the telegram to the House promptly on Wednesday morning, and gave it unusual prominence. Every single bame signed to the telegram and the telegram itself was read at length from the cierk's desk, a thing never before done with any petition. For usually after reading the first two or three names the rest are omitted. "After the telegram had been thus read

"After the telegram had been thus read at length, and notwithstanding the fact that it had also been published in extense in both the morning papers, one or the other of which is read by every member, some Democrat moved to have the petition printed at the expense of the Hodse.

"There was no lack of information on the Subject matter of the telegram; every one had heard it, including the House members of the Conference Committee, and therefore the motion to print was, in my judgment, a buncombe motion to reap some little party advantage.

the motion to print was, in my judgment, a buncombe motion to reap some little party advantage.

"Never, in the regular session or at this special session of the hundreds of petitions received on all manner of important subjects had one single one of them been printed.

"This motion to print therefore was without reason. Some Republican promptly moved to table the motion to print, and it was carried. I do not know who made the motion to table, nor was it made by my advice, but in my judgment it was a perfectly proper motion. Notwithstanding my action in presenting the petition. In giving it unusual prominence, though it was in favor of a bill of which I cannot approve in all its provisions, the gentlemen you have named sent me the message you have printed. "Such is mon-partisan appreciation.

"In regard to the bill itself there are provisions in it, many of which I have again and again pointed out in the public print, which are in my judgment unfair, unwise and partisan, and after having come to that conclusion, only after the most pains-taking comparison of the two bills, I cannot and will not do otherwise than support the bill which in my judgment is the best measure. How an honest man could do differently, or how honest men can attempt to force a legislator to vote against his conviction passes the limit of my comprehension.

force a legislator to vote against his conviction passes the limit of my comprehension.

"The Kansas City Safety Committee have approved of my bill. Judge Field of Kansas City, a strong Democrat, but identified with honest election bills aiways, says House bill No. 1 is the fairer, better bill. No one even attempts to assert after a comparison of the Safety Committee bill with House bill No. 1 that the latter bill is not absolutely fair and non-partisan and I have yet to find the first man outside of the Executive Committee of the Safety Committee who has read both bills and is not in favor of House bill No. 1.

"We are bound to have a good election law, a better law than the Safety Committee bill, and after the smoke has cleared away all good citizens will be glad at the enactment of an absolutely fair non-partisan bill.

"It is the weakest kind of an argument to attempt to arouse an antagonism to House bill No. 1, not by pointing out any defects in the bill itself, but by saying that Mr. Filley is in favor of House bill No. 1.

"It is a matter of no importance to me whether any man is or is not in favor of the bill.

"The subject matter of the bill itself is

8. J. Brittain of Kansas City, a brotherin-law of Mrs. Pearson, who hunted high gave him no information.

The first witness was Dr, J. Keating Bauduy. He said he had known Mrs. Pearson for many years, and gave it as his opinion that she was a victim of chronic delusional melancholia. He explained that she believed herself and daughter to be possessed of devills, and an elangher to the tormentors. Mr. Brittain testified to Mrs. Pearson's insanity, and Francis L. Haydel, the real estate man, narrated incidents which indicated Mrs. Pearson's unsoundness. He was examined as to her estate, and said he had the agency for a piece of property belonging to her worth $2,000. But she has bank stock and deposits. Mrs. Pearson and her deughter, he said, have estates worth at least $15,000 apiece.

Mr. Haydel was appointed guardian for Mrs. Pearson.

Effort to Stop Drug Manufacturers Selling to Retailers.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 11.—A circular sent out yesterday to all wholesale druggists in the country gave the first public notice of the big trust which the wholesale drug men are exerting themselves to form. For five days the wholesale druggists of this and other leading cities have met at Deimonico's to arrange the details of their trust.

The circular sent out outlines the plan to crush the retailers and compel the manufacturers to sell only to the wholesalers. The latter in turn will see to the selling to retailers and control the price.

In September a meeting of the wholesaler druggists of the country will be held in Denver, and then, it is said, the combine will be perfected. The circular is the outgrowth of a conference held last week between the standing committee of the National Wholesale Druggists' Associations and the manufacturers of proprietary medicines. It is proposed to force the manufacturers to stop selling goods to the retailer at the same price he sells to the wholesaler, and to put up prices all round.

I have answered that I am in favor of such a plan. It is not a scheme to combine all the wholesalers or to crush the retailers, but is simply aimed at the department houses, jobbers and such retailers as do not conduct a legitimate business but out prices. That meeting in Denver is nothing but the annual meeting of the National Wholesale Druggists' Association."

Judge Murphy Says They Are Preju-diced Against the Colored Men. diced Against the Colored Men.
When Samuel C. Henry, colored, was brought before Judge Murphy of the Court of Correction Saturday morning the police were severely scored.
"Henry, I find after inquiry," said Judge Murphy, "that you are a hard-working man. Like most men, however, you are in the habit of going out at night. It appears from the evidence that your offense consists in having been found standing beside a drunken man. I think that you were arrested because of prejudice against your color. From the manner of the officers on the stand I judge this to be the fact. The police appear to believe that all colored men are scoundreis and theves. I accordingly discharge you, because if I held you, it would be unsafe for any colored man to be found within a block of a drunken man."

BELLEVILLE NEWS.

Richard Evans, a blacksmith who had been employed for nine years at the Pump and Skein Works, was killed by a Cairo Short Line train about 8:20 Friday night. He left his home on South Chestnut street, near the railway track, shortly before the 8:20 south-bound train came in, and started for a neighboring saloon to get a bucket of beer. He failed to return and his family became alarmed and a search was instituted, which resulted in the finding of the dead body of the man alongside the track. The body was not mangled, but a close examination of it showed that the neck had been broken and also revealed a fracture of the left arm. It is supposed the train struck him on the left side and threw him into the air, and that he broke his neck in falling. Evans was slightly deaf and my not have heard the approach of the train, but it seems strange that neither the engineer nor fireman knew of the accident, which they apparently did not, as they failed to report it. The Cairo Short Line passenger trains regularly pass through that part of the city at a very high rate of speed.

The role of the nerves in the digestion and assimilation of food is a highly important one. The question whether the food shall nourish or become a mere load upon the system is a question of nerve force. Neglect to satisfy the demands made by the nervous system carries heavy penalties. When this nervous force is exhausted the digestive processes are obstructed, the body is weakened and pains of neuralgia, indi-

The objectionableness of the present method of using paid expert testimony in criminal trials was strikingly illustrated in this case. The testimony of paid experts on each side was as nearly balanced as the means of each side permitted. That the bulk of the expert testimony was on the side of Duestrow was merely because he had greater money resources to draw upon than the State's contest of purses, as it must always be when paid witnesses are admitted to the

But the fact that despite the preponderance of expert testimony for Duestrow the verdict was against him, indicates that the jury acted upon the suggestion of the Post-Dispatch, and, throwing aside all expert testimony as unworthy of consideration, used their common sense in finding a verdict from the facts and the

VALUE OF THE IRON MOUNTAIN.

The St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern is a railroad owned and operated by the Missouri Pacific. It is 184 miles in length in this State and is estimated by the State Board of Railroad Commissioners to have cost $51,166 a mile. The Iron Mountain, it will be remembered, was the recipient of innumerable favors from the State. In fact, the people of Missouri actually paid the cost of its construction and then gave it away to individual

In other words, in the language pesolutions adopted by the Legislature in 1893 and 1895, Why should the railroads of Missouri be assessed at 25 per cent of their actual value while other property is assessed at 40 per cent? The question still waits for an answer.

THE SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH.

To-morrow's Sunday Post-Dispatch will be of great interest to all classes of readers. It will not be composed chiefly of clapings from newspapers in the East, as are other Sunday papers in this city, but will teem with live topics which concern the people of St. Louis and those of the South and West.
One of the interesting and picturesque things it will contain will be a full page artoon of Filley as St. Louis'

Li Hung Chang. Arrangements have been made whereby the opening speech of Hon. Richard P. Bland in Denver to-night will be received and printed in full. Being the firs of his series of addresses on the present status of the silver question, it cannot fail to be of extraordinary interest.

The story of "A Country Sautre" will give a description of a type of man new to St. Louis—a man of wealth who voluntarily retires to the suburbs to spend the remainder of his life. will entrictain and instruct many persons, ways interested in knowing where always interested in knowing where to go and how to get there.

"The Money Sharks of St. Louis" will show how the poor are swindled and op-pressed, and may have some influence to-ward bettering conditions in this city.

These topics are mentioned for the pur-pose of giving the reader some advance idea of the live, up-to-date character of to-morrow's Sunday Post-Dispatch. But there are others—many of them.

The restless anxiety of the people the West to declare themselves on the money question is being manifested by calls for conventions in many States Illinois and Tennessee have given officia ulterance to the prevailing sentiment in those States by fixing dates in May and June for representative Democratic gatherings. Members of the Texas Legislature have united in a demand for a convention of Texas Democrats, and Ne-braska and Iowa are preparing for a sim-

Here in Missouri-the home and abidng place of the free coinage sentimentthe State which produced Richard P. Bland and kept him in Congress for brave stand for bimetallism—the desire for a public expression is rapidly assum-ing form and shape. The first call came from the great Democratic county of Saline, which will hold a convention on April 23 to give the people a chance to declare themselves. This will unquestionably be followed by similar action in other counties unless the State Com-mittee compiles with the request of the Jefferson City caucus and calls a State

WHY THE PEOPLE LACK "CORDIALITY." In his speech before the Senate Com mittee on Labor General Solicitor Coch ran of the Missouri Pacific omitted to explain the difference between railroad cor porations and nearly all other corporations which he thinks should receive the same treatment in the matter of Fellowservant legislation. The railroads enjoy from the State privileges of great value and wield under them enormous power for the good or ill of the community The only other corporations whose power to confer benefits or inflict damage upon the public compares with that of the oads, are the banks, and they are placed under the most stringent inspec-tion and regulation. If they depart one whit from the rules imposed upon them they are sharply brought to account.

No one knows better than Col. Cochran the reason for the lack of cordiality which he complains of in the relations between the railroads and the people. He had the evidence of one cause before him in Jefferson City, where legislatio is blocked by a railroad lobby. means the railroads have defeated the will of the people and have set themselves up to be the people's masters and to dictate what their representatives shall or shall not do. He knows that they have flagrantly, insolently, deflantly con trolled legislation through a paid lobby, packed conventions in their own interes and constantly interfered in politics. He knows that the Missouri Pacific has been particularly obnoxious in the politics and legislation of the State. The Post-Dispatch says to Col. Cochran and his railroad associates that there is only one basis of peace between the railroads and the people. That is for the railroads to call off their lobby, cease Lillian to interfere with legislation and keep out of politics.

In unearthing frauds in the Chicago Department of Public Works it has been discovered that dead men are carried names have been forged to time checks The lists also contain names with addresses which are vacant lots. What more solemn warning against a fraudulent census could be found? When a city counts the residents of the ceme teries and the vacant lots among her pop ulation she must expect to pay for it.

The excellence of the Deroit plan should insure for it the hearty support of press and public. Under our present labor system, nothing better can be don than to afford honest men, willing to work, an opportunity for self-support. If a small part of what is wasted upon year assessed the Iron Mountain at the unworthy were put into the Detroit $16,785 a mile. This is less than one-"Mankind will be fortunate, indeed, if the annual production of gold and silver coin shall keep pace with the annual increase of population, commerce and industry," said Mr. Carlisle in 1878. At that time Mr. Carlisle had not come under the influence of Wall street, and his sympathies were with the people.

Now that there is to be examination of the offices of Justices of the Peace we have a right to expect that the mys-terious falling off in receipts since the Devoy law went into effect will be accounted for. The Justices did too much business before or they are doing too little now.

The observing advertiser does not much care to examine the Post-Dispatch's circulation books and accounts, because he sees what is all about him, but these books and accounts are nevertheless open to him, and he may satisfy himself be yond the shadow of a doubt.

Not only do railroad bribers lead astray the willing legislator, but they endeavor to entrap the honest member, securing his vote by blackmail. There is no extreme of chicanery to which these bribers will not go to work their schemes.

Mr. Harrison has just made the last speech which he expects to make to a jury. He will now have more time to devote to his boom and to keep himself in the receptive condition which an emerency might require of him.

Admiral Meade's Strong Talk on the Cause of Resignation.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Admiral Meade, in statement about the causes leading to his effrement, says his ideas are not in accord with those of the Administration and that he is as much disgusted with it as the people are. He declared that he is an American and Union man, two things the Administration cannot stand. He said he is a young man yet, has five years to serve before retirement, and in two years would be the ranking officer of the navy, but he preferred to resign and sever all connection with the navy rather than continue in charge with all that he had to contend against. Admiral Meade said that the affair of Fleet Surgeon Kershner was trifling compared with the main causes of his retirement. Lieut. Marquez quarreled in a theater with a stalwart young Englishman. Not only did Marquez get the worst of the encounter, but a policeman came along, and, seeing that he was the aggressor, attempted to arrest him. The Lieutenant resisted arrest, and the policeman promptly hit him over the head with his club, felling him to the ground. When informed that he had tried to arrest a member of the diplomatic corps the policeman fled. Lieut. Marquez' friends carried him to his room where for two weeks he nursed a broken head.

An attempt was made to keep the matter from the ears of the Mexican Minister, but he heard of it, and he decided that not only was the military attache wrong, but that according to the code prevailing in the Mexican Army, he should have sent a challenge instead of attempting to settle grievances in the street. ## Fire Burns Down Every House in Oakfield, N. Y. BUFFALO, N. Y., May 11-A telepho

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 11.—A telephone message to the Express says:

The village of Oakfield was entirely destroyed by fire this morning. Not a house is left standing. It is reported that no lives are lost, and that the property loss will reach $100,000.

The fields about the burning village are filled with refugees, who have saved nothing from the flames. Shortly after 4 o'clock Buffalo was asked for a hook and ladder, but as that device is never sent out of the city no help was sent from Buffalo, nor will any help be sent unless an engine is asked for. Ald was solicited from Buffalo, nor will any help be sent unless an engine is asked for. Ald was solicited from Buffalo, nor will say no help was sent from latavia, but by 3:30 none had arrived. All telegraph instruments and the telephone station were destroyed. Oakfield is a village on the West Shore between Batavia and Churchville, and contains about 1,000 inhabitants. There are about twenty stores and business houses grouped together in the center of the village.

Paintings of These Masters Found in

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Mr. Claude Gouraud, son of Dr. Fellx Gouraud, who was well known in the Four Hundred of New York of a generation ago, has made a discovery. Covered with dust and grime, and kicking around unframed in an attic of Mr. Gouraud's house, in Great Jones street, for over twenty mears, were eleven oil paintings, some of which Mr. Gouraud new thinks may turn out to be the works of the lold masters. He called in two artists, and their opinion was that one of the pictures is a well known Rembrandt, which connoisseurs have been looking for for years, and that another—a Magdalene—is a genuine Michael Angelo.

Mr. Gouraud carefully packed and stored the paintings. He said yesterday that he probably would not part with them.

Goulding is a boxmaker/ Il years old. He lived with his young wife and two children on the second floor of a frame house in the rear of 3908 North Twenty-second street. He has been despondent from lack of work and suffering from epilepsy. He recently secured work in a stone yard, but had several epileptic fits there and has been at home since.

Friday afternoon he was suffering such intense pain that a Mrs. Holzman, who was visiting his wife, went for a dootor. While she was gone Goulding got up from his bed and going down into the yard lifted up the lid of a cistern and deliberately threw himself in. Fred Nack, Mrs. Goulding's brother, saw him disappear in the cistern. He knocked over the cistern-box, put a ladder down and descended with a rope. He had tied the rope around Goulding's body and climbed to the surface. There, Mrs. Holzman and Mrs. Homan, who reside next door, helped him tug at the rope and Goulding was hauled to the surface. He was unconscious, and his body discolored.

Dr. Krieger, who had arrived, had him sent to the City Hospital immediately, There he is resting easily this morning. Dr. Marks thinks he is slightly demented.

Allegations of Ill-Treatment and Varied Forms of Brutality. Mrs. Fannie Ford, wife of Wm. J. Ford who has been accused by her husband of having left him to take up with another man, says it was her liege lord's ill-treatment which drove her from home.

Last Christmas, she says, Ford got into a tantrum and attempted to beat her with a stove-pipe and a broom. He also sent the turkey, which she had laid in for the family's Christmas dinner, back to the store. Mrs. Ford took her children and left to ascape his brutality. She has a great many grievances against her husband, who, she says, only allowed her a dime a day and not enough to eat, although he is well-to-do. During the last years of their married life he went away for over a year and left her in ignorance of his whereabouts.

She further states there is absolutely no truth in his assertion that she is living with the man Frank Harrison. nent which drove her from home.

a carpenter, lies at 500 North Third street, East St. Louis, with a dangerous wound in the left temple, inflicted with a hard clod of mud.

Sneed lives in Cahokia. Friday morning he started from Cahokia with a heavy load of charcoal. He met a wagon loaded with lumber, bound for Cahokia, driven by J. W. Moore and Jacobs. Owing to his heavy load Sneed says he was unable to turn out and Moore, on the advice of Jacobs, ran into the negro's load. Sneed jumped from his wagon, and picking up a clod, threw it. It struck Jacobs in the left temple, stunning him. He fell off the wagon. Sneed pursued his way to St. Louis and, upon returning to Cahokia, was arrested, taken before Squire John Delaney of Praide Dupont and bound over to the Grand Jury in $500 bond. Dr. Thompson pronounced Jacobs' wound dangerous, but not necessarily fatal.

Drawback of Self-Threading Needle. Self-threading needles are an invention which many women halled with delight, not only those whose sight was beginning to full through advancing years, but almost any seamstress who had tried, in a poor light, or with needle and thread which did not "match," to hurry her work. But so far the trouble seems to be that the eye has to be so constructed that it cuts the thread. When this is obviated—if it can be—there is a great future for such an assistance to one's long white seam.

Changing Styles in Hair Dressing. Changing Styles in Hair Dressing.

Some of those people who lead our fashions, whether we will or no, are beginning to wear the hair low in the neck again in a loose sort of coil. This is tabe deplored if the style should become general. The "bun" is tidy, easily arranged and "stays put." A coil in the nape of the heck is invariably wild after a very short, time and requires more attention than, to speak plainly, it usually gets. It soils one's collers, too, and rubs against them in such a way as to break the hair badly. In fact, almost the only thing in favor of such a manner of hair-dressing is that the wearer of it looks much younger than with her hair worn higher on her head.

Select berries that are rather tinder than over ripe. Put the berries into a stone jar, stand it in a kettle of cold water, cover the top of the jar and hoil slowly for one hour or until the berries are quite soft. Now put a small quantity at a time into your jelly bag and squeeze out all the juice. Measure the juice, and to each pint allow one pint of granulated sugar. Turn the juice into a porcelain-lined kettle and stand over a prisk fire. Put the sugar in earthen dishes and stand them in theloven to heat. Boil the juice rapidly and continuously for twenty minutes, then turn in the sugar, hastily stirring all the while until the sugar, hastily stirring all the while until the sugar is dissolved. SCUDDER AND GALE RELEASED. Judge Priest Holds the Evidence Not Sufficient to Convict.

W. A. Scudder, of the Scudder-Gale Gro ery Co., was acquitted Friday evening is the Federal Court of the charge of crim-inally violating the United States custom laws.

Judge Priest held that no evidence had been adduced to show that Mr. Scudder had profited by the false invoice. He refused to let the case go to the jury.

United States Attorney Clopton then moved that the court dismiss the case against Arthur H. Gale of the same firm,

This is a gratifying ending of a case in which much interest has been felt. It is a matter of general congratulation hat a firm which has stood so high in the community as that controlled by Messrs. Scudder and Gale should be so completely vindicated from a serious charge that seems to have been hastily made. CUT THEIR DUNGEON BARS.

To Get Rid of Rodents. A gentleman who has experimented and insists that he knows what he is talking about, says that it is possible entirely to clear premises of rats by catching a live rat, chloroforming it and fastening a tiny, tinkling bell around its neck by a fine strong chain or wire, with the ends securely twisted, so that the rat may neither allp the collar off nor be caught in any place that it may attempt to crawl through. In a few minutes it will recover from the effects of the chloroform, when it should be turned loose in the cellar, or whatever building one choses to clear of these troublesome tenants. The noise of the bell frightens it, and it rushes instinctively towards its comrades, and they in turn become frightened, and a panic takes possession of the entire colony. This is certainly a good way to banish rats.

The Robe De Chambre The those be Chambre.

The one thing most conductive perhaps to a girl's perfect happiness is a robe de chambre to slip on after she returns from party or opera. They are made of the very softest silk in pale yellow or cream, and lined with eider cloth. They do not fasten, but are so roomy that one side folds over the other while a cord and tassel secures it. Some of them are edged with swansdown or ofter, which gives a rich and comfortable look, and worn over the delicate lace frills of the lingerie beneath, is very pretty.

Mary Lyon, the famous founder of Holyoke School, was a woman of plain features and of reserved and rather diffident manner. She recognized these deficiences in herself, and also considered them quite essential to the success of a teacher. Therefore, in selecting assistants in her seminary she always preferred those with pretty faces and what used to be called "pretty manners" as well.

Books Do Not Communicate Disease. In this time of popular talk concerning disease germs one instinctively feels afraid of the books from a public library, with their unmistakable signs of much handling by all sorts of persons. The librarian in a great local institution says, however, that there never has come to their observation any case of contagion traceable to the exchange of books.

AND PROFIT BY IT.

Which It Can Be Avoided.

No woman in America has given greater attention to the ailments and sufferings of women than Mary Lowe Dickinson, the popular writer and magazine contributor. She sive an effect as in a recent address, when "Without health the beautiful woman ceases to be beautiful, and education and maining are of little avail if she has to pass her life a helpless victim of sickness and weakness. We do not know half the truth about this, for three-fourths of the sufferers do not like to tell. For every hysterical woman who makes everybody about her informed of her sufferings, there are a dozen who drag their own troubles dumbly and bravely into their grave. Sickness is a blight that no woman should permit to come over her if she can by any possibility cure it or keep it away. How to secure health is, indeed, one of the first problems for this generation of women. 'Give us health!' is the cry from all the world of women, 'Give us a system that will spare us the morbid broodcry from all the world of women, 'Give us a system that will spare us the morbid brooding of discontent, the bysterical tantrum, the nervous collapse, the look of gloom from the wells of our eyes.' 'Every woman must admit the truth of these words. They are spoken straight from the heart. There are thousands upon thousands of women who feel sick at certain periods.

tired out, and who suffer from weaknesses that doctors seem unable to relieve, and the saddest part of it all is that they might happy, joyous, flush with health, and at-tractive because they preserve the organs that make health. It is true comparatively few know how this is done, but many have ascertained it, and have relied as upon a true friend on that grandest, greatest and most reliable aid to woman in her critical periods, Warner's Safe Cure. Every doctor knows this truth, and hundreds of the most prominent and reliable ladies in America have proven its value in their own experiences and are not only alive, but strong, healthy and happy to-day. There are few women who can afford to ignore these suggestions, few who should fall to avail themselves of the valuable hints they contain.

This leaves four vacancies to be filled, as follows: Superintendent House of Refuge, Assessor Fourth District, Market Master Union Market, Weigh Master Thorpe scales. The rejection of W. J. He was defeated by a vote of 7 to 4, and it is significant that the members who have stood by the Mayor throughout—Nagel, Ferris, Ives and Kotany—voted with Clark. Heckel and Uthoff for rejection. Gast, Hagan, Rorton and Vallat voted for confirmation.

A reconsideration was had of the vote by which Thomas W. Singer was rejected for Market Master of Union Market, but he was again rejected for want of a majority of all the Council, the vote standing 6 to 5 for confirmation. Ives and Kotany, who voted for confirmation Tuesday, voted for rejection. Brinkmeyer and Keyes were absent. The bonds of Sewer Commissioner B. H. Colby, Water Commissioner M. L. Harrell's Shorthand College, 807 Commercial Building, 520 Olive st., because of its able mansgement, high grade of instruction, liberal terms, the wonderful superiority of the standard shorthand taught (which is 30 per cent shorter than any other), and its practical methods, enjoys the infiltence and patronage of many leading citizens of 8t. Louis, has rapidly advanced to the front, and stands foremost in the van of progress.

When this school was first established in St.
Louis, it gave extremely low rates of tuition, and many have availed themselves of the advantages thus secured, but after the 15th of May the rates will be about the a ame as all other high grade shorthand colleges throughout the world.

We unhesitatingly claim superiority in point of system, method of instructions, and demonstrate what we claim. An examination of our work will convince the most akeptic of its superiority to all others.

Summons for a Pugilist.

A summons for a Pugilist.

A summons was issued Saturday morning against John Holtman, pugilist. Mrs. Mahoney of 719 North Vandeventer avenue, is the complaining witness. Holtman has been stopping at Mrs. Mahoney's house, and for the past month, she says, has been abusing her three children, ranging from 5 to 12 years in age. Mrs. Mahoney complained to the Humane Society and a summons charging Holtman with disturbing the peace was the result.

THE MARKETS.

ST. LOUIS. May 11.

The May returns of the Department of Agriculture show an increase in wheat of 1.5 points from the April average, being $2.9, against $1.4 last month and $1.4 in May, 1894. The averages of the principal winter wheat States are: Ohio, $5; Michigan, 78; Indiana, 78; Illinois, 90; Missouri, 90; Kansas, 48; California, 97. The average of the seven States is $2.3, against $1.5 in April, being an increase of a little less than 1 point. In the Southern States the averages range from $5 in Texas to 93 in Alabama, winter ye, like wheat, has advanced nearly 2 points since last month, the average for May being $8.7, against $7 for the same date in April. The percentage of New York is 97; Pennsylvania, 92; Michigan, $8; Illinois, 92; Kansas, 54. The prospects for rythroughout the rye belt are fair, except in the State of New York, where it is too dry, while in the States of Minnesota and Kansas the crop was considerably damaged by the severe winter and has not recovered. The average condition of the winter barley is 94, against 62.5 in the month of May, 1894, and $8.6 in 1893. The lowest conditions are in Texas, Indiana, Jowa and the highest in New York, California and Oregon. The condition of spring patture is $9.7; of mowing lands $9.4. The proportion of spring plowing done May 1 is reported $2.8, against $3.5 last year and 73.4 in 1893.

Illinois State report says crop prospects on May proportion of 2.8, against $3.5 last year and 73.4 in 1893.

Illinois State report says crop prospects on May I was very favorable. Wheat had a fulr growth, notwithstanding dry wenther at seeding time, and condition but little below an average. Only about 4 per cent area seeded was winter killed. Hessian fly doing some damage and chinch bugs numerous. Asrenge seeded to oats 3 per cent larger last year and condition 96 per cent.

On the Government estimate of $2.9 as the condition of winter wheat and using the area seeded last fall, a crop is indicated of about 297.000.000 bu. A considerable portion of the acreage has been plowed up this spring, owing to winter killing, and the crop is really not up to above estimate. What can be said of the reliability of a report which says of rye that prospects throughout the rye belt is fair, except in State of New York, where it is too dry, yet gives the condition of rye for that State as 97? This is what the Government report did.

Last week's clearances of flour and wheat for week were 2.805.000 bu, against 2.555.000 bu last week and 2.816,000 bu one year ago.

Argentine wheat shipments past week were 1.600,000, against 1.840,000 bu the previous week.

-CREEDON AND

TRACEY HOME. The Local Pugilists Return With Large Rolls.

BOTH IN GOOD CONDITION.

They Will Remain Here Until Next Week and Then Start for the Mills With Dunfee and Walcott.

Dan Creedon, the conqueror of Australian Billy McCarthy, and Tom Tracey, who defeated Tom Cavanaugh, returned from Galveston, Tex., this morning, accompanied by Lew Phelan. Both Creedon and Tracey are looking well and each is confident regarding their coming battles with Joe Dunfee and Joe Walcott, respectively, at Coney Island. Joe Walcott, respectively, at Coney Island. Creedon fights Dunfee on the 20th inst., and Tracey will meet Walcott ten days later. Dunfee is the Syracuse (N. Y.) boy who is credited with having knocked out Fitzsimmons the night "Lanky" Bob killed Con Riordan. Fitzsimmons was excited at the time and Dunfee put him on queer street with an unexpected chance blow. He is a great big, husky fellow and can punch hard enough to hurt anyone, but Creedon expects to take his measure.

Walcott, Tracey's next opponent, is the great colored welterweight who travels with the Dixon-O'Rourke combination. He whipped Tracey once before, but Tom gave him a hard fight and thinks he can down him this time. him a hard fight and thinks he can down him this time.

Bat Masterson has been engaged by Col. Hopkins to handle and train Creedon and Tracey for their coming battles. He and Col. Hopkins will go East with the boys early next week. The Colonel will take the party to the Fair Grounds to-day to see the opening of the racing season.

Creedon and Tracey made big money out of their fights with McCarthy and Cavanaugh at Galveston last week.

SIMPLY A FEELER.

's Cablegram to the Club Not Intended to Scare Fitz. cial to The Post-Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 11 .- Jim Corbett no intention of tossing the Fitzsimmons match over his shoulder. Manager Brady says so. The cablegram sent to the Naional Sporting Club asking for an offer for a fight between the champion and Peter Jackson was, as Manager Brady expres-ies it, simply a "feeler." Corbett is ready to fight Fitzsimmons in London, too, if a fair purse is offered, but his ideas of what fair purse is offered, but his ideas of wha he terms "fairness" in the matter of purse may conflict with those of the Nationa Club. At anyrate, it was not intended to scare Fitzsimmons out of his wite whe the cable was sent. Fitzsimmons would be very sorry to lose this match with the champion and Corbett himself would not like to have the affair broken off.

GREAT RACE HORSES.

Seven Records' Heid by Starters at the Fair Grounds To-Day. The opening day's card at the Fair Grounds should furnish some great sport, including, as it does, horses who hold no less than seven of the American track records Foremost among the track scorchers, which than seven of the American track records. Foremost among the track scorchers, which St. Louis turfites will have a chance to see this afternoon, is Porter Ashe's grand old mare Geraldine, who is a starter in the opening event. She is 10 years old and has been one of the idols of American racing men since she commenced to race as a 2-year-old back in 1887. Her record performances include a half mile in :46 flat, made at Morris Park in 1889; four and a half furiongs in :54 flat, made at Oakland, Cal., in 1893, and six and one-half furlongs in 1:19 3-5, made at San Francisco in 1891.

Chris Smith's flying little chestnut mare Maid Marian, who will measure strides with Geraldine in the first race, is another record breaker, with two marks to her credit. She covered five-eighths of a mile in :56% at Morris Park last fall. In 1893 she ran one mile and twenty yards in 1:40 flat at Washington Park.

Galen Brown's Libertine, who will go to the post in the $5,000 Inaugural, is one of the fastest horses on the American turf. He holds the circular track record for a mile, having covered the route in 1:33% at Harlem last year. The record is 1:35½, made over a straight-away course at Monmouth Park by the never-to-be-forgotten Salvator.

Chris Smith's Yo Tamblen, who will go to the post in the Inaugural also, is another record-breaker. She holds the one and one-sixteenth mile mark, 1:45½, which she made at Washington Park in 1882.

Besides these track scorchers, such horses as Yemen and Dr. Hasbrouck are also entered. Yemen is a full brother to Himyar, the sire of Domino and Correction. Dr. Hasbrouck is orie of the greatest sprinters on the American turf.

THRNER FOR BREITENSTEIN.

The Phillies Want to Negotiate for the Browns' Crack Pitcher.

There was a rumor at the ball park yesterday which seemed to come from an au-thentic source, that the Philadelphias would thentic source, that the Philadelphias would make a proposition to trade Turner and a cash bonus for Breitenstein, and that the deal would go through. Buckenberger has been trying to secure Turner to strengthen the stick work of the Browns and offered Manager Arthur Irwin Clarkson in place of his outfielder. The Phillies are weak in the box and Buck thought by holding out a fair pitcher in exchange he might get what he wanted, but the offer was declined.

Irwin does want a pitcher, but he does not want Clarkson. He wants Breitenstein and is willing to add cash to the deal, but it is not probable that he will get what he wants. When asked, about the deal yesterday Buckenberger said that no proposition had yet been made to him, but that he would not When asked about the deal yesterday Buckenberger said that no proposition had yet been made to film, but that he would not consider it if it was.

"Why, we need Breitenstein too much ourselves," he said, "and will not hear of letting him go. Now that Ehret is laid up he is doubly needful to us. You can put it down that no such negotiations will be considered for an instant."
